Dear Patriot Families:

The stereotype about high school is that kids are forced out on their own once they hit 9th grade. “They” say that parents aren’t involved and that teachers are more rigid. Well, I believe just the opposite. From where I sit, I see parents extremely involved at Liberty and a caring, dedicated staff. I see values instilled on both sides with high expectations and supports to help students navigate our most challenging courses in our diverse curriculum. I see a school community where together we offer something or someone for everyone. As we get closer to parent-teacher conferences, I hope you’ll consider meeting with a teacher or two in an effort to become even more of a part of your son’s/daughter’s education. This year, we’ve provided more options to see teachers in hopes to get as many parents as we can into the school. Click here to view the options on Sign-up Genius. Thanks for all you do for your Patriot, and I hope to see you at a game or event very soon.

With Liberty Pride,

Mike Starner, Principal
