

COMMITTED DISTANCE LEARNING FAMILY NEWSLETTER

DECEMBER 18, 2020

Congratulations on an amazing performance to all that participated in our elementary Holiday Sing-Along!

WEEKLY WINS

Mrs. Sekula and Mrs. Browning's classes enjoyed a bedtime story. Students unwrapped the book and hot cocoa and we enjoyed reading it together one evening. - Ms. Sekula

My kindergartners worked so hard the month of December on making a classroom recipe book with special family or holiday recipes to share with their peers and families. I hope you try them all! -Ms. Brace

Mrs. Stople's science class and Mrs. Holmberg's math classes combined to complete an interdisciplinary lesson on proportions and the layers of the atmosphere. Students were placed in groups and were asked to create a visual representation of the layers of the atmosphere using an unconventional unit of measurement. Students chose objects such as hot dogs, buses, baseball bats, and Empire State buildings. Students had to set up a proportion explaining "how many" of each item it would take to fill each layer of the atmosphere. We ended the unit sharing their projects and celebrating the wins of working together. - Ms. Stolpe and Ms. Holmberg

MIDDLE SCHOOL ELECTIVE COURSE SELECTION

Today is the last day for students to complete the MS electives survey that was emailed to all middle school families last week. Please make sure if your child plans to take one of our middle school electives classes through APEX the survey is filled out.
